

Babylonian Talmud, B'rakhot 17a

*May you see your world in your lifetime, may your future be for the life of the world that is coming,
and your hope for generations of generations.*

May your heart meditate with understanding and your mouths speak wisdoms.

May your tongue be moved to songs.

May your eyelids look straight before you;

*May your eyes shine with the light of the Torah,
your face be radiant, like the brightness of the firmament.*

*May your lips utter wisdom,
and your kidneys rejoice in righteousness.*

May your steps run to hear the words of the Ancient of Days.
